Hillary Clinton's 'hit list' of Democrat enemies

By S.A. Miller   January 13, 2014 | 8:31am

Hillary Clinton Photo: Getty Images

WASHINGTON — Hillary Rodham Clinton's 2008 presidential campaign staffers kept an enemies list of fellow Democrats they believed betrayed her during the fierce primary fight against Barack Obama, a new book claims.

What Clinton insiders called the "hit list" included then-Sen. John Kerry, the late Sen. Ted Kennedy and two-time presidential hopeful John Edwards, according to excerpts of the book published online by Politico and the Hill.

The book, "HRC: State Secrets and the Rebirth of Hillary Clinton," by Politico's Jonathan Allen and The Hill's Amie Parnes, is set for release Feb. 11.

The list included rankings on a 7-point scale, with 7 being the worst-magnitude traitor in the eyes of the Clinton loyalists, according to the book.

Kerry (D-Mass.), who eventually succeeded Clinton as Obama's secretary of state, received a 7, the book says.

http://nypost.com/2014/01/13/hillary-clintons-hit-list-of-democrat-enemies/