The Obama Democrats have an audacious scheme for winning future elections. They just plan to import 5 million non-citizens and credential them as voters who will, in gratitude, vote Democratic.

The way this devious formula works is stunningly simple. Just get the new Republican Congress (under Speaker John Boehner and Sen. Mitch McConnell) to pass a full-funding bill for Homeland Security without any exception for the funding of Obama's illegal executive amnesty, which will allow Obama to give work permits, Social Security numbers and driver's licenses to 5 million illegal aliens.

Once the 5 million so-called undocumented persons are given those valuable documents, there is no way to stop them from voting. That conclusion is drawn from the testimony of voting experts such as Kansas Secretary of State Kris Kobach, who told the U.S. House Oversight Committee on Feb. 12, "It's a guarantee it will happen."

Kobach's warning was reinforced by testimony before the same committee by Ohio Secretary of State Jon Husted, who noted that the 5 million non-citizens would receive the "same documents that federal law requires the states to recognize as valid forms of identification for voter registration." And once an alien registers to vote, Kobach said, it is "virtually impossible" to remove him from the voter rolls.

A third witness, Hans von Spakovsky, suggested that Social Security numbers issued to the 5 million illegal aliens should contain a code (such as "N" for non-citizen) that would instantly reveal their ineligibility to vote. But that simple fix would happen only if the Obama administration sincerely wants to keep them from voting, which I doubt.

In case the illegal aliens need spending money, they can collect a special handout from the U.S. taxpayers called Earned Income Tax Credit, which was designed to help parents who are working to support their families. IRS Commissioner John Koskinen told the Senate Finance Committee on Feb. 3 that as soon as the illegal aliens receive their Social Security numbers, they will be allowed to go back and claim the EITC for up to three previous years in which they worked illegally.

What about the employers who illegally hired these people? They will get off scot-free, even though documentation clearly exists to prosecute and punish them.

Opponents of amnesty were cheered by the news that a federal judge issued an injunction against Barack Obama's unconstitutional and illegal executive amnesty. The judge ruled in favor of the lawsuit filed by the new Texas Gov. Greg Abbott, along with 25 other states.

The Social Security Cards and Driver's Licenses are an end run around the Voter ID laws.

'Agreed, all the way around. Why else would Dems be so willing to potentially compromise the security of our nation by shutting down [a whole 12.5% of the employees -- who are judged nonessential] of the Department of Homeland Security, just to fund the act of illegally issuing work permits to people who are specifically prohibited from being issued work permits, by Federal law? [If what has been recently reported can be believed.]

Does anyone really believe it will be difficult, for people who would like to do harm to the US, to enter our nation illegally if the Dem[bots] have their way with this issue?

Incidentally, is there any better way to put downward pressure on the wages of entry-level workers than to cave to the Dem[bots] and [Rep]ub[licans] who support amnesty? [And, if they raise the minimum wage in an attempt to counteract this effect, won't that just cause many layoffs and increased dependency on the government for these same people, who would probably like to just be able to work for a little more money, instead?]

People who would like to do harm to the US are already entering our nation illegally - right now, as we speak.

This whole business is an inch away from a "fait accompli" -- that's a "done deal" in English.

Foks, the National Socialist Left and the Quisling RINOS are selling this country off one broken piece at a time.

All to secure their own power --indefinitely.

Then won't they be surprised when the muzzies they've been enabling eat them for lunch ...
