After more than 87,000 people in the U.S. have been killed from gun violence, it's time to label the NRA for what it really is: a terrorist organization.

RELATED GALLERY:

One terrorist group is responsible for more civilian deaths since December 2012 (the Sandy Hook massacre) than Al Qaeda, Boko Haram, Hamas and the Taliban. Yet it is the only nearly-state sponsored terrorist group that is not listed by the U.S. State Department as such.

It is the National Rifle Association and for their unending lobbying that's kept a lid on gun control we now have 428 times more American deaths by gun than deaths by foreign terrorists.

No? Between 2012 and 2015, according to University of Maryland's Global Terrorism Database, ISIS has murdered approximately 12,138 civilians, Boko Haram, 10,092, the Taliban 9,427 and Hamas, 85.

In that time, Americans have murdered or spree killed via gun and assault rifle, 87,423 people in the United States.

Scenes of chaos follow deadly shooting at Umpqua Community College in Oregon

In contrast, terrorism killed 28 Americans per year on both U.S. soil and abroad according to the Global Terrorism Database.

Those murdered Americans killed by our own lunatic gun slingers include terrified children calling for their mothers, teachers begging for the lives of their students, students begging for not just their own lives but the lives of their classmates, moviegoers looking for escape, bystanders cheering for athletes, athletes trying to be the best they can be as the worst we ever could have imagined struck them down in cold blood.

America is supposed to be 'the home of the brave.' But there is nothing brave about blasting away nine innocent people at a college.

control advocate Rudy Giuliani, who will say anything to get on TV in a pathetic and dangerous attempt to be relevant (that ship has sailed, bub), went on "Fox & Friends" to rant about his now-support of guns, ranting that murderers don't follow gun control laws.

No, but lax gun control laws put guns in those murderer's hands.

Therefore the NRA should take its rightful place on the State Department list of terrorist organizations, because its influence is more of an immediate threat to the lives of our citizens than foreign terrorists.

Although the NRA is not an officially state-sponsored organization it is the supporter of the state with its massive member and lobbyist donations to our elected officials.

After the last no-vote on gun control, the British newspaper The Guardian did an analysis that showed 45 of the 48 senators who torpedoed gun control in Congress "have received money from firearms lobbyists."

On his visit, the Pope declared America to be the “Land of the free, home of the brave.” Really?

How brave was it for a sexually frustrated, racist freak with six guns to shoot and kill eight students and a staffer at a college?

How brave was it for the sheriff there — a Sandy Hook non-believer — to write to the vice president of the United States after the Sandy Hook massacre to declare that neither he nor his deputies would enforce gun control restrictions if passed. They didn’t pass, so he didn’t have to. Now his citizens are dead and on Friday he presided over the victim’s family’s announcements. How does he sleep at night? How do we?

Jeb was supposed to be a shoo-in. Now, he’s on the brink of being shooed away by his GOP rivals.

THE JEB FAD IS FADING

They said he was a shoo-in. They said he was the next Bush to be a forty-something President, as in “45.”

Tragically, however, jabbering Jeb just can’t get it up. His poll numbers, I mean.

According to a Pew poll (emphasizes “pew!”), Jebby’s numbers are so low that the only part of that 45 he’s got now is the four — as in 4% of support among GOP voters. Hey Jeb: “Stuff happens.”

Meantime, Donald Trump is still ahead by more than a hair and said he’d definitely give neurosurgeon nut Ben Carson a cabinet position. Maybe instead of the cabinet he can become the surgeon general.

It’s time that a doctor in charge finally ended the scourge of all men becoming gay in jail, making sure that bestiality participants can’t legally marry, and make all illegal immigrants happy by turning them into indentured farm servants.

MAYOR, IT’S NOT YOUR JOB

De Blasio is wasting his time with this debate —er, forum — on income inequality.

Mayor de Blasio, who has somehow confused his job with that of leader of the free world, will be hosting a forum in Iowa just ahead of the caucuses — on income inequality, yet.

Not only is this a direct hit to the head of his mentor, Hillary, who has already stated she won't go for extra debates. OK, this one is couched as a "forum." Right.

And seriously? On what planet does he think this topic will be a big draw for Republican candidates?

LARRY DOWNING/REUTERS

It appears de Blasio has confused his job with that of the leader of the free world.

They don't need to debate income inequality. They're all for it.

Why hold a forum to which no one will come except the "why bother" candidate Martin O'Malley because he has to, and Bernie Sanders because after all, no candidate is more income unequal than he is.

LIFE, IT AIN'T GR-EASY

OK, so the average New Yorker eats 23 pounds of pizza a year (with forks de Blasio style, and mitts Regular Joe style). It's just been announced that blotting grease off your pizza will save you over 6,000 calories a year, which will theoretically shave nearly 2 pounds off your belly. Therefore, it stands to reason that not blotting will cause you to gain 2 pounds a year.

Thing is? I've been a proud pizza blotter for over 20 years now. But I'm not 40 pounds — or even 1 pound — lighter.

Why is it though, that if I hadn't been dabbing, you know for sure I'd be sporting 40 greasy extra pounds around right now?

Life, like pizza, isn't fair.

SyFy's B-movie Saturday schlock night.

The flick's a poor (very poor) women's version of "Zoo" in which all pet dogs eat their owners or something.

Question: How could the docs tell that Zarin was unconscious? She always looks out of it.

POPE & MARRIAGE

Somebody should have told the Pope about the Eleventh Commandment: Never trust a thrice-divorced marriage clerk.

Pope Francis stained his otherwise stainless American trip by secretly meeting with Kentucky clerk Kim Davis, who had claimed it would be against her religion to issue marriage licenses to gay couples. Where in her religion, by the way, does it say you can get divorced as often as other women get manicured?

That being said, the Pope now regrets that visit and wants the world to know it was not meant as an endorsement of her views. The Vatican claims the Pope wasn't even indirectly involved in the decision to invite her and that Davis was only in a greeting line.

Francis did meet with a gay friend and the man's partner.

It doesn't need to be repealed, it just needs to be interpreted in a sane manner. The idea that it means there can be no regulations whatsoever is recent and radical.

"Well regulated" doesn't mean "No regulations."

We have laws. People are supposed to go to jail for gun crimes. But prosecutors either refuse to charge people or they plea-bargain those crimes away. Doesn't exactly encourage compliance when a gun criminal knows he's going to get away with it.

We need to ban the Second Amendment just like we repealed the ban on alcohol? Do you even realize how stupid that sounds?

NRA members aren't the ones killing people. It's black inner city thugs that are responsible for the vast majority of gun crimes. That's the real problem the media refuses to talk about. Unfortunately for everyone else it's politically incorrect to blame the people responsible based on the color of their skin. Want to decrease gun crimes? Stop letting criminals off the hook, make them complete longer sentences instead of putting them back on the streets and acting surprised when they do kill somebody.

ok, left wing wacka doos, here is the deal.

The left has an agenda, that agenda is to get rid of all the guns,

I know it, you know it. no since in denying it.

the pres, said it in his speech the other day about the shooting

see his speech aty 5:56

when he said he wants the US to follow in Australia and Great Britans steps.
